Master class "Possibilities of folklore games in the prevention of deviant behaviour".

One of the main causes of deviant behaviour is the lack of an environment in the city where children and teenagers could undergo socialisation, acquire the ability to communicate and coexist with peers and adults. Traditionally such an environment was the environment of folk play - folklore. The master class will consider the possibilities of using folk games as a modern means of preventing deviant behaviour.

The workshop in the genre of fairy-tale therapy "The Tale about Fevronya the Helper, how she lost her role and lost her way" is devoted to the problem of self-regulation of vital resource of specialists of helping professions. Self-regulation of vital forces, their assessment and skills of effective replenishment are one of the most important professional competences of specialists of the system "man - man". The professional activity of a highly competent but exhausted psychotherapist can hardly bring the expected help and support. The workshop participants will have an opportunity to self-examine their psychophysiological state and the possibility of resistance to arising difficulties in the course of body-oriented exercises. During the work there will be a joint search and discussion of self-regulation mechanisms at the bodily, social and psychological level. The genre of fairy tale therapy will allow to live the existential meaning of the helping profession.

"Family Chest" resource workshop

The workshop is dedicated to the research of family history. The methodology I will use in my work is transgenerational psychodrama. The history of a family is a huge experience accumulated by generations. It contains many things, but also answers to questions that concern us, clues and keys, supports and resources, useful strategies and other gifts. Such gifts are resilient to the passage of time, they cannot be broken, lost or shattered. You may not know about them or forget about them, but everyone definitely has them. It is important to revise one's psychological heritage, because this unleashes enormous potential for personal development.
